

Norway Aerial Bridge

Overview

Norway's most scenic drive stretches 8.3 kilometers across the Hustadvika archipelago, connecting islands through 8 dramatic bridges. Built between 1983-1989, this engineering marvel offers breathtaking views of the Norwegian Sea and has become one of the world's most. The Storseisundet Bridge (Norwegian: Storseisundbrua) is the longest of the eight bridges that make up the Atlanterhavsveien ("The Atlantic Road"), the road connection from the mainland Romsdal peninsula to the island of Averøya in Møre og Romsdal county, Norway. The bridge sits on the border. Images of Norway and Robin Lund presents aerial views of bridges of Lofoten in Northern Norway. This is the second extended winter edition, with five hours of scenic seascapes, a cinematic soundtrack and the majority of the clips in detailed 4K resolution.
